

Rick's Guide to the Glowing Bride

Skincare:

It is important to get your skin in shape so that it glows on your special day. Seek the assistance of a professional aesthetician. Also ask about your eyebrows. Most women are not experienced to shape their own eyebrows, because it's challenging to look at both brows simultaneously and determine what needs to be removed, and the result often is over-plucked brows. Waxing is not just for the Bride. The Groom should be well "Groomed" for that special day too! Treat him to a Gentlemen's facial, manicure, pedicure & eyebrow wax.

Makeup:

You won't need heavy coverage in order for it to show up in photographs; that's a myth. Whether you want to look natural or go for all out-drama, defining your best features really is the key to wonderful pictures. Hire a professional, as the shaky, nervous hands of a bride do not make for a good application.

All of our foundations are applied by airbrushing for that flawless high definition look.

Now that glamour is back in a major way, long lashes are a must for enhancing the beauty of any bride. Professionally applied individual eyelashes are the best. It will be your best kept secret that day.

Hair:

Do your homework ahead of time. Bring along pictures of hairstyles that you like, as well as whatever you are wearing in your hair (such as a headpiece, clips, flowers and or veil) so that both of you agree on your hair fantasy. One of Rick's most important tips is dimensional color, whether it is highlighted or tone on tone this will set you aside from other brides and show up beautifully in your photos.
